MEET THE CANDIDATES

NAMC is proud to remain one of the only nonprofit consortiums governed by a Member-led Board of Directors. This year's nominees bring diverse experience, deep industry knowledge, and a shared commitment to advancing innovation across the defense mobility ecosystem. Learn more about why each candidate is seeking to serve on the NAMC Board of Directors.

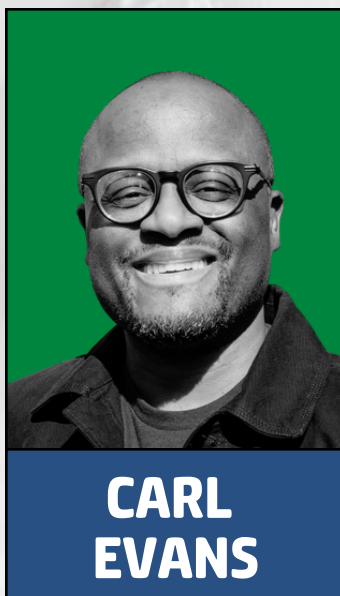

Senior Product Manager, Trident Systems

Ed sees a pivotal moment for NAMC to expand its reach, accelerate prototyping, and support more service branches with common ground platform needs. He hopes to contribute a product-minded voice to the Board and help shape the consortium's strategic direction in a rapidly changing landscape.

MEET THE CANDIDATES

Founder & CEO, Tercero Technologies Inc.

Carl understands the challenges small companies face when entering the defense ecosystem. He's running to ensure NAMC remains accessible and inclusive — and that innovative startups have meaningful opportunities to engage, contribute, and succeed.

Vice President of Growth and Strategy, Baker Engineering,

Wyatt is passionate about connecting military operations, government acquisition, and emerging defense technologies. With extensive experience across USMC, USASOC, and DOE programs, he hopes to bring strategic insight and small business advocacy to NAMC's leadership, ensuring that innovative capabilities make it to the warfighter.

MEET THE CANDIDATES

Director, U.S. Strategy and Growth, General Dynamics Land Systems

With firsthand experience leading combat vehicle innovation inside and outside of the military, Geoff sees NAMC as a key connector between government needs and industry capabilities. He hopes to bring strategic and operational perspective to help guide the consortium's future growth.

Senior Program Manager, Oshkosh Defense

Ryan brings a rare depth of experience across Army acquisition, OEMs, and small businesses. He wants to help Members navigate complex defense markets and unlock new opportunities — particularly in fast-growing areas like autonomy, maritime, and additive manufacturing.

ROB
PALMER

Vice President, Washington Operations, RENK America

Rob brings decades of national security and public affairs experience, and sees the NAMC Board as an opportunity to directly support the defense ground vehicle and intelligent systems industry. He's especially focused on the intersection of policy, nonprofit governance, and Member success at both the federal and state levels.

MIKE
PHILLIPS

Army Ground Market Lead, SAIC

Michael is committed to helping NAMC deliver greater capability to Soldiers by expanding industry collaboration. He's particularly interested in deepening NAMC's involvement in the ground systems space and contributing to a stronger, more connected Member ecosystem.
